Download the findme1 jpg file and we see the below image

Checking metadata for any juicy clues and it's a deadend.

We proceed to perform a reverse image lookup on Google and I obtain the following results;

There's an arabic text linked to the image. I proceed to visit Google Translate to convert the text to English and hope that's the flag. The text converts as shown below;

Great, now to submit the flag #NoSpaces

Somalia

We have a name Alshabab Alwatani that we need to search and find the location. We can google the name but we'll find a lot of irrelevant results.
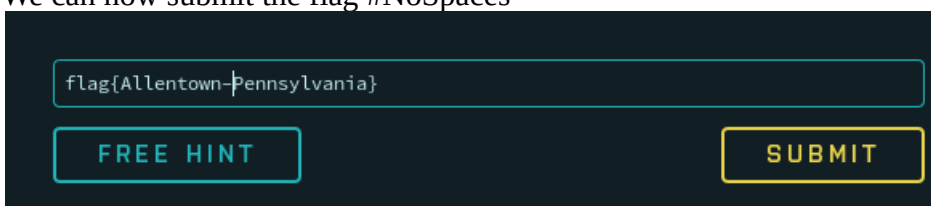

We'll use pipl.com (world's largest people search engine) and see what results it provides.
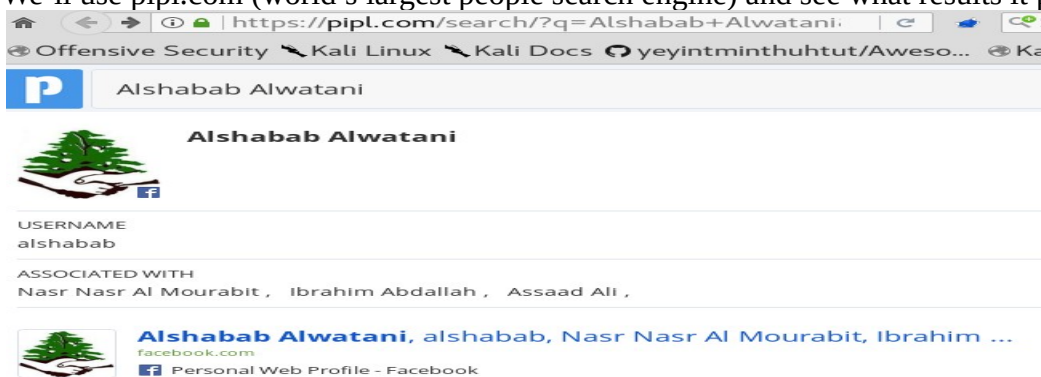

We find one result linked to a Facebook account. We go ahead and visit the account and hope the user has left their location details. We visit the account and find the below result;

We can now submit the flag #NoSpaces

United States

capture_United States - Tracking                          ✕

  So we found his current location, I have a mission now... One goal, one aim.. Tracking him down....

  A little mouse informed me that he loves "SEA FOOD"!! yeah.. ohhhh and he loves science too, check out the "Da Vinci Science Center".

  Beware of your surrounding, we need to find him when he is distracted.

  Flag Format: flag{....-.-....-...-...-....} #Nospaces
  #All lowercase

From the challenge summary we know the target loves Sea Food and science. So we search for the Da Vinci Science Center on Google and find their website points to https://www.davincisciencecenter.org/

Since we don't know the area we explore the website and we find a Visitor Info tab and to the left we see an interesting tab called Nearby Places to Eat. Opening the link and searching for a nearby Sea Food resturant we find the below;

Henry's Salt of the Sea

1926 West Allen St.
Allentown, PA 18104
2.6 miles from the Center
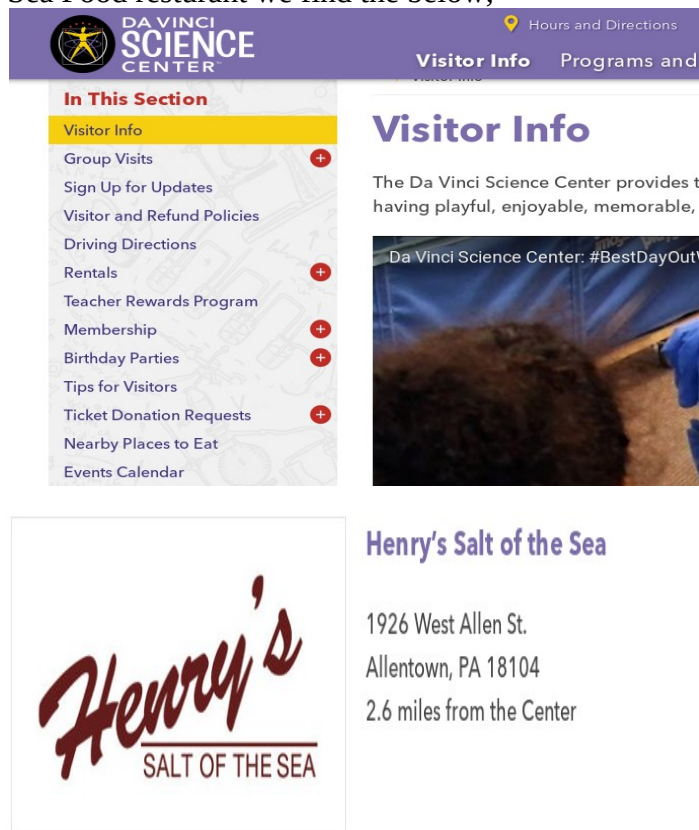

We can now submit the flag #NoSpaces #All lowercase→ flag{henry's-salt-of-the-sea}

Greenland

capture_Greenland – Like Father Like Son

So we found his favorite restaurant, but we missed him.... I got the little mouse to talk again, he had a past the dad is a CEO of some corporation ... that produces dairy products.. but before that he used to own another company that produced dairy and non dairy products... I guess we will track down his family then.. You know what to do young soldier!!

Don't worry leave the dirty work for me... and pass by here southseasfoods dot com at port 80 and pick me up some sea food!!

Hurry up young soldier and find me the Dad, I hear he loves to tweet alot.

Flag Format: flag{@.........}

From the challenge we're provided with a domain name southseasfoods.com which currently isn't reachable. Let's check if the Internet truly never forgets and had archived the site earlier on when it was still active.

We visit http://web.archive.org/ and input the domain southseasfoods.com at port 80 and we see that the site was archived 72 times between the year 2000 and 2008 as shwon below;
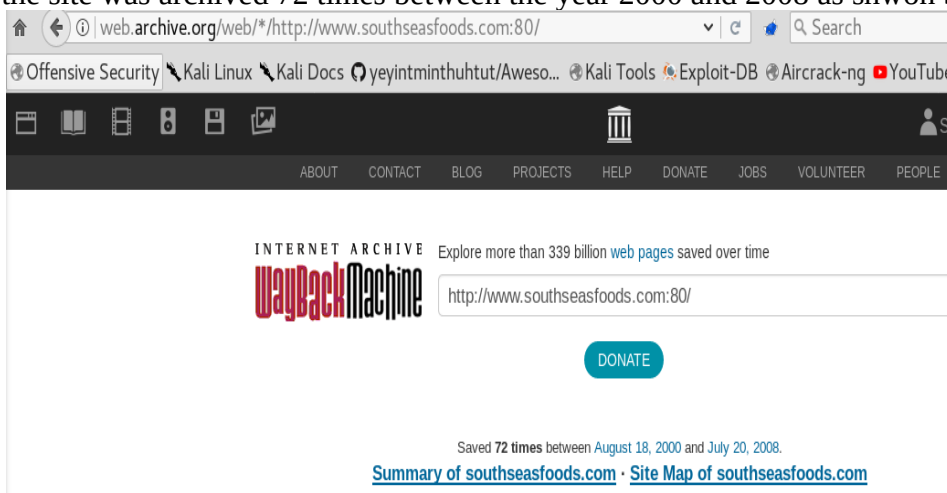

We go back to around 2004 when the site was heavily active and see there was a contact page with the below details;
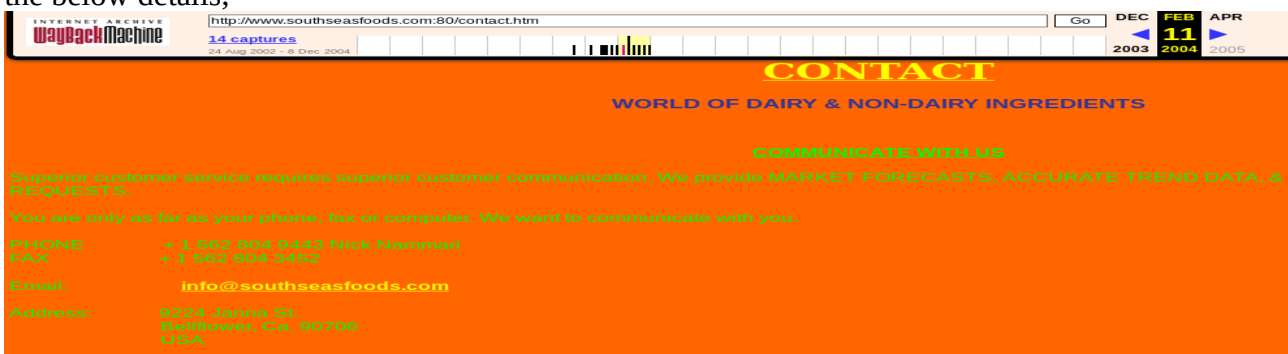

We find a name Nick Nammari and from the challenge he loves to tweet so we search for him on twitter;
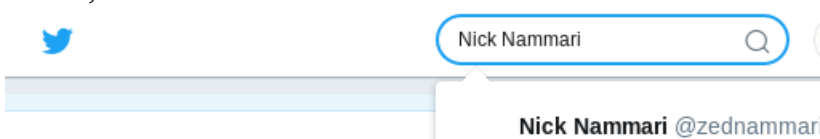

We can now submit the flag → flag{@zednammari}

Nicaragua

capture_Nicaragua – Friendships

So I guess you found the dad, but also you noticed that he was active for a period of like a year, you also found the company he was a CEO to... It seems like the dad is a dead end.... let me go make our little mouse squeak, meanwhile go check if the dad had any friends, co-workers or connections at the corp, and see if they will bear any fruits.

Flag Format: flag{L.....}

From the previous challenge, we find out Nick Nammari is now the CEO of Nammarico Corp from his Twitter account. We now look for connections to Nammarico Corp and when searching we find the below results;

Portugal

capture_Portugal - Seeking Justice

So I guess you found the dad's friend!! I can smell blood, the end of our mission is almost here ... The mouse broke, Lavish went to a new business Beverages so called drinklavish... The little mouse said he saw our target chatting around "LavishGrindENT" he so called it...

Find him, give me his first and last name... and leave the rest to me.

Flag Format: flag{....-.....} #Nospaces

We'll search for LavishGrindENT on Twitter to see what pops up;
